

My name is Autumn Winkler and horses have played a significant role in my life for a long time. I was introduced to the horse industry when I was seven and since then I have met so many incredible people who have the same love for horses that I do and dedicate time to them every day. My love for horses started with my mother Tisha Winkler and the D and J Stables where I found a family and discovered who I was. I learned to be a hard-working, ambitious, and dare I say interesting young woman. I am a sophomore at Madison Southern High School who loves animals, academics, and adventure. I intend to seize all the opportunities that come my way including, with hopefully the help of you, Miss Kentucky. So all of my fellow horse lovers, I would greatly appreciate your vote.
